Managing Holistic Community Programmes 23rd – 26th July
This course will focus on best practice in design and management of interventions – the project cycle and its alternatives - but also management issues, and the voluntary sector as a whole: its strengths, weaknesses and prospects as major players in global development. A hands-on approach is used, with practical design of programmes from a case-study situation.

Leadership from a Christian Perspective 18th – 22nd July
This course is designed to develop a practical management response to contemporary issues in mission leadership which can be applied in relevant organisational situations. We will review the major leadership theories and embark on an exploration of a Biblical understanding of leadership which will provide a demanding review of leadership issues within a Christian framework.

*Please note there are no teaching sessions on the Sunday.

Mission Strategy 23rd – 26th July
This course will focus on strategic planning and trends in world mission. We will examine various key aspects of strategy within a cross-cultural context and enable participants to learn through case studies and cross-cultural mission strategies.

Cost per course
Residential rate per course: £525 per person
Non residential rate per course: £415 per person

Who are the courses for?
These short courses are for those involved in areas such as education, health care, humanitarian aid, development or leadership, and who want a mixture of input and experience based discussion. They are also suitable for practitioners who are moving into these areas from other aspects of mission and NGO involvement. Participants should ideally have a minimum of two years experience and a Diploma level qualification.

What is the programme?
The programme consists of 4 short courses in the following specialist areas:

Principles of Integral Mission and Development 14th – 18th July
This course will draw on both Biblical insight and on the current thinking of development scholars, theologians, and practitioners, to critique the conventional view of ‘progress’ and set out an alternative, holistic vision of human development, often referred to as integral mission. Topics of aid, climate change, gender, and peace-building will be explored both from a ‘mainstream’ secular perspective, and from a Biblical angle.

Mission is not just a speciality, it is EVERYTHING we do.
