Christian Medical Fellowship (CMF)

Web: <http://www.cmf.org.uk/>

Founded in 1949 and has over 4,500 British doctor members in all branches of medicine, and over 1,000 student members. We are linked with around 60 similar inter-denominational bodies worldwide through the International Christian Medical and Dental Association (ICMDA) CMF runs a residential Developing Health Course in early July each year at Oak Hill College in North London. It is aimed at Healthcare professionals who are either working or planning to work abroad in resource poor countries. The highly qualified speakers are all Christians with experience overseas. It consists of 10 days of intensive medical input with interactive workshops and spiritual input, together with the opportunity to share experiences with those of like mind who are currently working overseas. For full details of course and speakers see the Healthcare Mission Course pages on this site.

Association of Christian Counsellors (ACC)

Web: <http://www.acc-uk.org>

The Association was founded in 1992 following discussions with representatives of a number of Christian counselling organisations in the United Kingdom. These discussions demonstrated that there was a need for a nationwide umbrella organisation, which could undertake certain activities on behalf of its members. The vision may be summarised as follows: The provision of nationwide standards for Christian counselling and care, the provision of a nationwide system for the accreditation of Christian counsellors broadly acceptable to Christian churches, counselling organisations and the wider community, the provision of a nationwide system for the recognition of training in Christian counselling and pastoral care, the provision of a body which represents Christian counsellors and develop relations with institutions such as the social services and health authorities, and with denominations and professional bodies and the Association recognises that among Christians there is a great variety of approaches to counselling. Whereas it aims at high standards in practice and training it does not seek uniformity.

Hospice Africa

Web: <http://hospice-africa.merseyside.org/>

Hospice Africa, a UK registered charity, was founded to provide or support the provision of palliative care to terminally ill cancer patients in the African setting. This was to be achieved in two ways: a) The establishment of a 'model' hospice providing a direct home care based service to patients and their families. b) The development of an education programme for health professionals and volunteers, using the 'model' hospice as a teaching model.

Australia

Church up a Gum Tree

We are a small Church in the remote town of Esperance, Western Australia (8 hours drive from Perth). We originally were part of the Uniting Church in Australia, and are now affiliated to Crosslinks. Even before the church started we felt the Lord asking us to provide a Christian Medical service to the emotionally, financially, and socially disadvantaged in our community. None of the other local health services are comfortable for or welcoming of the aboriginal sector of our community or those who are experiencing economic social or emotional hard times, so we are seeking to bridge this gap through our church medical ministry..

Linking Hands

Web: <http://www.linkinghands.org>

Linking Hands mission is "Linking Global Partnerships in Medical Mission". They facilitate and connect Christian medical professionals to long/short term opportunities world-wide. The primary mission of Linking Hands is to mobilise professional Christian healthcare workers (on volunteer basis) all over the world and eventually connect them to different medical projects run by Christian Missiomi Organisations or established Church Mission Work. This includes Crisis Relief work in the acute or recovery phase. The ministry is also very much involved in providing established Student Elective Opportunities to Christian hospitals or projects in different regions of the world. Linking Hands is based in Singapore, and is solely a volunteer group. The main focus is on networking of medical personnel to needs in the different countries. Linking Hands is a web-based virtual organisation run by a group of nine volunteer doctors, a team of three IT personnel and a full time administrator. In addition to being web-based, there is personalised contact and service that Linking Hands provides through phone calls, email and actual meeting up of all our contacts. In summary the areas of networking include linking: - Christian Medical Professionals to Short/Long Term opportunities worldwide - Student Elective Programmes with Mission Hospitals - Medical Professionals/Resources for Crisis Relief - Medical Mission Leaders and Agencies to facilitate partnership -

Medical Ambassadors International (MAI)

Web: <http://www.medicalambassadors.org>

Our major mode of ministry is through Community Health Evangelism (CHE). This program seeks to transform individual lives physically, emotionally, socially and spiritually in local communities by meeting people at their point of need. These transformed individuals are then involved in transforming their neighbors, thereby transforming the community from the inside out. This is multiplied to other areas with the goal of assisting in the transformation of the country for Jesus Christ.

Global Health Outreach (GHO)

Web: <http://www.cmdahome.org/?BISKIT=1798061977&CONTEXT=cat&cat=32>

Global Health Outreach exists to provide opportunities for medical, dental and other healthcare professionals, students, their families and associates to serve Christ, to share Christ and to grow in Christ. This translates into the three-fold purpose of ministering physically and spiritually to needy people, and ministering to the spiritual needs of our teams. By being the 'hands of Jesus' to needy people, we seek to fulfill His Great Commandment (Matthew 22:39; 25:36) and His Great Commission (Matthew 28:19). - The heartbeat of our mission is evangelism - We partner with national pastors, missionaries, and organizations to ensure an on-going ministry after we have departed - We work with local public health programs to impact the community for Christ - We provide team devotions and Bible studies to feed the mind and soul - CME and CDE is offered on each trip

Bangladesh

Lamb Hospital

Integrated community health and development project with 150 bed hospital in rural north west Bangladesh. The community programme works with about 350,000 of the poorest people in the area. The hospital provides services in comprehensive obstetric care (about 3500 deliveries per year), gynaecology, paediatrics, medicine and general surgery. We have a community based rehabilitation programme for children with disabilities. There is also a very active training centre, training health and development workers for our own and other agencies including the Government of Bangladesh. The research component of the project is also expanding. Our vision is to see people living as God intended in spiritually, physically, socio-economically, and emotionally healthy communities. The project also has an English medium school for staff children and volunteers are always welcome there.

Chogoria Hospital

PCEA Chogoria Hospital is a rural hospital run by the Presbyterian Church of East Africa, on the fertile slopes of Mt Kenya, 200km north-west of Nairobi. With a total of 312 beds, the hospital's five inpatient wards offer medical, surgical, paediatric, obstetric, and private services. Two operating theatres are equipped to perform a wide range of elective and emergency surgery; the smaller theatre is used for tubal ligation, vasectomy and eye surgery, as well as emergency surgery. A large outpatient department has consulting, examination, treatment, and surgical rooms, plus eye, dental, X-ray and laboratory units. Special services include a physiotherapy unit, AIDS counselling, and a chaplaincy service. Clinical officers and doctors run the general outpatient services; regular special clinics cater for diabetes, tuberculosis, mental health, general surgery, gynaecology, paediatric and antenatal services. There is a dedicated daily clinic for HIV/AIDS care and ARV therapy, with home-based care and community involvement. The Community Health Department of the hospital supervises 32 clinics in the catchment area, each of which is run by a nurse, responsible for preventative and basic curative services. Health education in the community is a priority. There is an emphasis on training programmes, with an active College of Nursing offering KRCHN training on site and by distance learning. There is a regular succession of medical students both from Kenya and abroad, for their elective periods. Kenyan medical graduates are posted by the government to do their one-year internship training in the hospital. And there is now a post-graduate M.Med training programme for Family Practice, linked with Moi University in western Kenya, with the aim of training the all-round-competent doctors so badly needed in rural Kenya.

Hospice Africa

Web: <http://hospice-africa.merseyside.org/>

Hospice Africa, a UK registered charity, was founded to provide or support the provision of palliative care to terminally ill cancer patients in the African setting. This was to be achieved in two ways: a) The establishment of a 'model' hospice providing a direct home care based service to patients and their families. b) The development of an education programme for health professionals and volunteers, using the 'model' hospice as a teaching model.

World Horizons

Web: <http://www.worldhorizons.org>

Our primary direction in mission is toward the nations of the 10/40 window and the Muslim world. Our strategy involves prayer in new areas followed by teams working in these areas. Our goal is to see the Lord glorified in His church as it expands to include new groups of people.

Intercare

Web: <http://www.intercare.org.uk>

Inter Care is a registered charity based in Leicester, founded in 1974 to collect surplus medicines (and basic medical equipment) to donate and deliver direct to rural medical centres in sub-Saharan Africa. Inter Care was begun because its founders had seen at first hand that many rural clinics in Africa have the staff to deliver basic health care, but they could not obtain the essential medicines and basic equipment. In contrast surplus medicines were being thrown away or destroyed in Britain. Inter Care now collects appropriate surplus medicines and matches them to specific needs in Africa.
