

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOUR NOW?

Renfield Centre, Glasgow | Saturday 18 September

10am-4:30pm

In a world of change, when the ground is shifting beneath our feet, who is my neighbour now?

Perhaps you have been thinking of using your healthcare skills serving God in another part of the world? Maybe you are wondering whether COVID-19 changes either the needs or your sense of calling, or you want to explore where God might be leading you. Rather than putting that thinking on the back burner, join us at CMF for a day to expand your thinking and give you fuel for prayer.

This day course will enable us to:

- meet with other like-minded healthcare professionals,
- hear stories of ways in which colleagues' lives are making a difference
- ask questions about whether we should, why we should, and how we can use our skills in serving God in the world today
- share our learning and discuss in small groups

Speakers:

Dr Simon Clift served with the Anglican Church in Tanzania as a Crosslinks mission partner with his wife Esther and three children from 1996 to 2002. Since returning to the UK, he has been working with Inter Health as a travel and occupational medicine specialist. He serves on the General Synod of the Church of England and is a member of their Clergy Well Being Group. Recently he has started working with Thrive Worldwide to establish a specialist Occupational Health service to clergy, church ministers and other Christian leaders. He is passionate about world mission, wellbeing and being a whole-life disciple of Jesus Christ.

Fi McLachlan is head of CMF Global with a background of involvement in healthcare management and mission.
